“Together We Build the Future”

Parents, families, educators, and communities working together for student success

Research shows that there is a positive and convincing relationship between parent and family involvement and student success. When parent and families are involved in their children’s learning both at home and at school, their children do better in school. When parents, families, educators, and communities work together, all are strengthened and outpace what the individual entities could accomplish on their own.

The 23rd District PTA Leadership and Parent Involvement Committees are joining together to provide training and professional development in the area of parent and family involvement. Presentations include information on Dr. Joyce Epstein’s “Six Keys to Parent Involvement”, the National Network of Partnership Schools, California State PTA parent and family involvement information and resources, and the California Action Plan for Partnerships P-16 Council Recommendations.

District Board Members, Council Board Members, Superintendents and other school personnel are encouraged to attend.
